

The Friendly Red Pen Proofreading Services

QUALIFIED PROOFREADER AT YOUR SERVICE

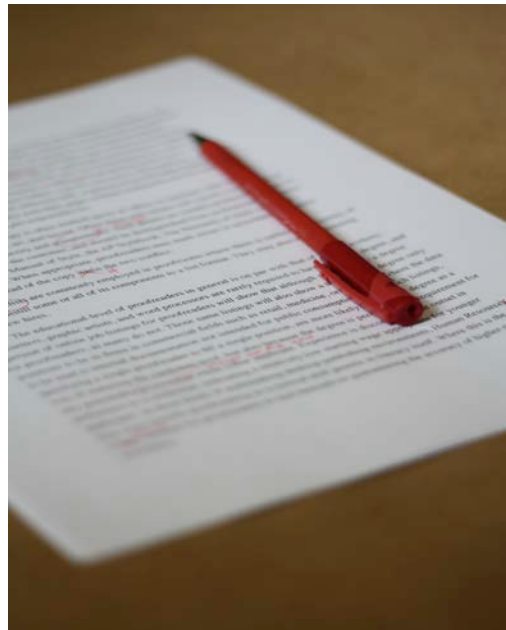

As an English teacher in a small private school since 2001, I have plenty of experience reading papers and assignments for errors!

In addition to correcting student assignments, I have proofread administrative documents including report cards, websites, formal communications to the school community, resumes, and brochures.

THE STORY BEHIND THE NAME:

In order to encourage students to self-edit and work hard in the pursuit of excellence in written work, one of the mantras of my classroom has been, "The red pen is my friend!"

For those of you, however, who don't have the time or patience to self-edit, let my friendly red pen do the work for you!

A proofreader ensures that your document looks professional, eliminating spelling, grammar and typographical errors that leave a bad impression.

A proofreader views your document with a fresh eye, finding errors that you may have missed due to over familiarity with the text.

A proofreader considers your writing from an outsider's perspective and will ask questions about the content that you may not have considered, ensuring that your ideas are clearly and succinctly communicated.

YOU CHOOSE THE STYLE OF PROOFREADING YOU NEED:

The Quick Read-Through

This service is for work that is already polished and has the quickest turnaround time. The proofreader will look for minor errors.

Cost: $2.00 per page *

The Basic Proofread

The proofreader will search for errors in spelling, capitalization and punctuation as well as awkward or incorrect grammar and typographical errors.

Cost: $3.00 per page *

The English Teacher's Specialty

This service includes the basic proofread and also looks for how the text can be improved in its structure, clarity, and word choice. Work will be corrected to eliminate redundancy and inconsistency.

Cost: $5.00 per page *

*A page is defined as 250 words.
